U.S. DEEPLY CONCERNED OVER ACTS AGAINST U.K. EMBASSY IN JAKARTA Rusk Holds Talks With Subandrio

United Nations, New York, Wednesday, Sept. 25, (Reuter).—
MR. Dean Rusk, U.S. Secretary of State, told Indonesia yesterday that the United States was "deeply concerned over hostile acts against the British Embassy in Jakarta."

Diplomatic sources said Mr. Rusk emphasized U.S. interest in the upholding of normal diplomatic rights during a 30-minute talk here with Dr. Subandrio, Indonesia's Foreign Minister.

The sources said Mr. Rusk spoke in similar terms in an official statement by the State Department last week in which the U.S. expressed its strongest concern over attacks on the British Embassy in Indonesia.

Dr. Subandrio the sources said, was unable to give any detailed information on the Embassy situation because he said he was out of touch.

Mr. Rusk also stressed American interest in "prompt normalization" of the situation aroused by the setting-up of the new state of Malaysia, and told Dr. Subandrio this was Indonesia's own interests as well as in the interests of peace in the area.

Observers at the U.N. said Mr. Rusk's reference to Indonesia's own interests could mean a hint that American aid to Indonesia might be affected. Diplomatic sources said, however, that the question of aid was not specifically discussed.

Dr. Subandrio said afterwards that the U.S. was "very much interested" in solution of the Malaysia problem, and that Mr. Rusk had inquired about the British Embassy in Jakarta.

TEST BAN TREATY RATIFIED BY U.S. SENATE KENNEDY TERMS MOVES STEP TO PEACE PATH

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Sept. 25, (AP).—

THE U.S. Senate Tuesday ratified the history-making limited Nuclear Test Ban Treaty.

Approval of the pact banning nuclear weapons testing in the atmosphere, in outer space and underwater came after more than two weeks of Committee hearings and an equal time of Senate debate.

Laying Of Behsood Bridge's Steel Structure Begins

KABUL, Sept. 25.—Work on laying the steel structure of the Behsood Bridge, known as Zahir Shahi Bridge, with a span of 130 metres was started Monday by workers of Nangarhar Bridge Construction Project.

Work on the first part of the bridge had started three months ago. The total length of the bridge is 360 metres with a width of ten metres and a height of 84 metres above the water level. The bridge is supported by nine concrete pillars.

Lieutenant General Khan Mohammad, the Governor and Military Commandant of Nangarhar Province referred, in a brief statement, to the latest changes in the country as the result of His Majesty's valuable guidance in different spheres of life and stressed the role of Zahir Shahi Bridge in improving the social and economic conditions of the people living in northern and southern parts of Afghanistan.

He expressed appreciation for the hard work of Afghan workers and officials as also for the co-operation of Soviet engineers engaged in the construction of the bridge.

With a two-thirds vote of the Senate required for approval, the resolution passed on an 80 to 19 vote.

That was 14 more than the 66 votes needed with 99 Senators recorded. The missing vote was that of the ailing Senator Clair Engle Democrat-California, who has been reported favouring the Treaty.

For ratification were 55 Democrats and 25 Republicans, opposed were 11 Democrats and 3 Republicans.

President Kennedy, hailing the Senate's action even before the ballot, expressed "delight at this single but substantial step in the direction of peace."

His reaction was reported by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana after the weekly White House breakfast of Democratic congressional leaders.

The Treaty, signed at Moscow August 5 by the United States, Soviet Union and Great Britain, was sent to the Senate by President Kennedy August 8 with these words:

"While it will not end the threat of nuclear war or outlaw the use of nuclear weapons, it can reduce world tensions, open a way to further agreements and 'help to ease the threat of war.'"

But opponents, who fought vainly to the last, contended it jeopardizes U.S. security, preserves a Soviet advantage in high-yield weapons and permits the Soviet Union to continue development underground in the small-arms field where America now leads.

President Kennedy said the Senate's approval of the nuclear Test Ban Treaty was a step toward "the path of peace."

Aides issued the statement as President Kennedy arrived at Stewart Air Force Base en route to a speaking engagement at Milford, Pennsylvania.

The President's statement: "The action of the United States Senate in giving its advice and consent to the nuclear Test Ban Treaty is a welcome culmination of this effort to lead the world once again to the path of peace."

"The wide support of the Senators of both Parties given to the Treaty after an extensive and wide-ranging debate is evidence not only that the Treaty has wide public support but also of the collective judgement that this instrument is good for the people of the United States and people all over the world."

"I congratulate the Senate for its action and wish to particularly commend the painstaking work of the Leaders of both Parties in the Senate and Senator William Fulbright of Arkansas in bringing the Treaty to this highly satisfactory vote."

French Offer To Make Her Atomic Weapons Part Of European Force Important Adenauer Calls For Careful Study Of French Proposal

BONN, Wednesday, September 25, (DPA).—WEST German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer yesterday called France's offer to make her national atomic force part of a yet to be established European Nuclear Force "a very important and noteworthy proposal."

French Foreign Office Undersecretary Michel Habib Deioncle had told the Council of Europe's Consultative Assembly in Strasbourg Monday that a European force could be set up as soon as the Political Community of the West European states had materialised.

At the same time he had invited Britain to participate in the build-up of the European Nuclear Force.

While Britain reacted coolly, the Foreign Office abstaining from comment, and official Paris said the suggestion was not an official one, Dr. Adenauer declared the offer should be studied carefully. He agreed that the European Political Community must be formed first.

Addressing the parliamentary group of his Christian Democrat Party Dr. Adenauer again stressed that the current talks about relaxation of tension were not very attractive as long as the Soviets were not ready to make "genuine proposals."

Floor leader Heinrich Von Brentano, the former West German Foreign Minister, told the group the latest speech by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in the U.N. (in which he accused West Germany of preventing relaxation of tension whenever she could) had not been proof of a Soviet spirit of conciliation.

On the contrary, Soviet Union was creating a false relaxation of tension which was dangerous.

Von Brentano called Moscow's demand for the conclusion of a non-aggression pact between NATO and the Warsaw pact countries as well as that for control posts exclusively on German soil as suggestions not worth discussing.

African States To Ask Thant To Continue Congo Operation Until Next June

UNITED NATION, Wednesday, Sept. 25, (AP).—THE 32-member African states decided Tuesday to request Secretary General U Thant to keep U.N. forces in the Congo until next June to assure peace in the African nation.

U Thant has said UN peacekeeping forces in the Congo will have to be withdrawn by the end of this year because of a lack of funds to finance the operation. The Secretary-General estimated it would cost 25 million dollars to keep a force of 6,000 men in the Congo for an additional six months.

Emerging after a two-hour meeting of the African nations. Chairman Louis Inacio-Pinto of Dahomey said the group also discussed means of displaying their opposition to Portugal's colonial rule in Africa.

According to another item the United States held urgent consultations Tuesday on the prospect of raising a fund to avert liquidation of U.N. forces in the Congo.

It was believed U.S. delegation members were consulting Britain, Belgium and members of the 18-nation Congo Advisory Committee on means of raising the money in the next week.

The move came after a warning from U.N. Secretary-General U Thant that he would go ahead with plans to pull out the 7,000 troops remaining in the Congo unless the Assembly acts quickly to provide money.

Mr. Thant made clear that he would have to know by October 1 if the funds would be available.

Mr. Thant said in a report to the Security Council last week that quick action was vital since supplies for the Congo force are no longer being fed into its logistics pipeline in anticipation of its termination by December 31. "To establish and feed supplies into a new pipeline would take much time and be very costly," Mr. Thant said.

Common Market

that of the United States; but this transformation has been made possible only in the measure that the countries of Europe have drawn closer together. Today the European Economic Community is the greatest commercial power in the world". Putting these facts in the context of Atlantic partnership Professor Hallstein concluded that the best hopes for overall economic and political stability in the Western world were in co-ordinating the efforts of North America and Europe.

3. Mr. Enrico Bignami, administrative director of the world-wide Swiss company 'Nestle'. Speaking at the Thirteenth Commercial Administration Congress in New York on September 16th Mr. Bignami warned that the European Common Market could become an instrument for blunting the effect of free enterprise. The European Economic Community, continued Mr. Bignami, might serve as a base for excessive industrial control in which "technocrats" would become a sort of elite and private enterprise administrators would take on the role of officials. It would be a tragic irony if in encouraging the Common Market the United States should turn out to have favoured the growth of an organism whose attitude would be contrary "to the very principle of the American way of life". Certainly the Common Market would represent progress and in the long run it would surely include Great Britain and most of Europe, but so far, went on Mr. Bignami, it has created a climate in which governmental control and planification are predominant, where the word 'capitalism' (largely through the influence of propaganda) is regarded with disfavour. European industrial directors, he concluded, should resist the temptation to accommodate themselves more and more to a state-controlled economy. They ought to form a new type of administrator, sufficiently intelligent and sufficiently astute to safeguard the essential principles of free enterprise.—(SPRC)

ZANZIBAR TO RECEIVE INDEPENDENCE DEC. 10

LONDON, Wednesday, September 25, (AP).—THE British Government agreed Tuesday to grant Zanzibar independence on December 10.

The agreement emerged at the conclusion of a London Constitutional Conference to decide the East African Island's future.

Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys said Britain would take formal steps to abrogate the 1890 agreement under which Zanzibar came under British protection.

The conference agreed to recommend that the constitution should declare the Sultan of Zanzibar to be Head of State bearing the title "His Majesty the Sultan." Under the agreement, the Sultan would be entitled to nominate his successor.

A communique issued after the talks said all Zanzibar representatives reaffirmed their wish that, on attaining independence, the Island should be a member of the British Commonwealth.
